Memorial Prayer Garden:
This tranquil garden lies at the edge of the woods, at the end of a cross-shaped brick walkway. Billy Graham was buried here in 2018, next to his wife, Ruth Bell Graham, who passed away in 2007. In honor of the original Crusade team, George Beverly Shea (who passed away in 2013), Cliff Barrows (2016), and Billie Barrows (1994) are buried in an area just a short stroll away.

Graham Family Homeplace:
The Graham family homeplace was built in 1927 on a dairy farm about 4 miles from the Library. Billy’s mother, Morrow Coffey Graham, lived in the homeplace until her death in 1981. The original house was moved to this site at the Library, where it has been restored.

Helpful Hints

- The bookstore and dairy bar accept cash, checks, and all major credit cards.
- Tobacco use, alcoholic beverages, outside food and drink, and firearms are prohibited on the property.
- Food and drink are permitted only in the dairy bar and lobby areas.
- All active and veteran military service members receive 10 percent off purchases at Ruth’s Attic and the Graham Brothers Dairy Bar (with valid ID or in uniform).
- Cameras are permitted in the exhibit areas, but please refrain from flash photography.
- Admission is free, but if you'd like to make a contribution, donation boxes are available in the lobby.

Named after Billy Graham’s wife, Ruth, our bookstore features a great selection of Bibles; books by the Graham family and other noted authors; classic Billy Graham sermons on DVD; plus a wide selection of gifts, including music, apparel, and specialty items. Bookstore exhibits include Billy Graham’s personal library and desk.

Enjoy a selection of delicious meals and snacks, including deli sandwiches, chicken salad made from Mother Graham’s recipe, the Billy Frank hot dog, barbecue, salads, soups, ice cream cones, fresh-baked cookies, and Mother Graham’s pound cake.
